All Abby Simon wanted to do was try out her new fishing rod. Little did she know that she was about to witness a body being dumped into the lake. Soon Abby's brother is kidnapped and Abby is told if she tells anyone what she saw, he will be killed. Alongside a compelling mystery Wyckoff paints a beautiful portrait of the north shore and all the people that live there. Anyone looking to escape to their cabin without leaving their home should pick up this fantastic book and then eagerly await the second in the series.

A readable and entertaining account of small-town life on Minnesota's North Shore. Full of quirky characters supporting each other in a place of beauty and isolation. I was rooting for the book's young, female protagonist all the way. The book really shows the resiliency of children in the face of evil.

A Minnesota North Shore murder mystery ... meant to be read in a tent on a rainy night OR anywhere else. Loved the characters, but especially the 13 year old girl who has to sort the confusing world of adults, both nice and not-so-nice!

Very well crafted and a vivid portrayal of life in a small woodsy NE Minnesota town hard by Lake Superior. A page turning mystery involving well idealized cast of characters. Tim H.
